

I think that all that is needed is not to change the technicians to general but to give technicians the general HF bands and to move the old advanced HF bands to the generals. The morse requirment should be lifted from alls classes except the extra which should be reduced to 5 wpm. This will give the general class some extra bandwith in the HF bands. The current tech plus operators could be changed to techmician only. The old advanced class could be upgraded to extra which will give 3 license classes with minimal effort.
